The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has notified us that the taxpayer identification number (TIN) on your account with us does not match their records. The IRS considers a TIN as incorrect if either the name or number shown on an account does not match a name and number combination in their files or the files of the Social Security Administration (SSA). You must respond to this notice, by completing the enclosed form W-9, by the date shown or you may be responsible for a penalty of $50 for failing to provide us with a correct TIN/name combination, if such penalty is assessed by the IRS.

The Internal Revenue Service requires the payor or payee of record to furnish a TIN so that federal tax reporting requirements, such as the verification of a mortgage interest deduction, may be satisfied.

Enclosed is Form W-9 "Request for Taxpayer Identification Number" for you to complete, and return in the envelope enclosed. Please follow the instructions to complete the form. By doing this we will be able to correct your account records and you will avoid penalty.

If you are an individual and you have never obtained a social security number (SSN) or you have lost your card (and do not know your number), contact your local SSA office to obtain an original or replacement social security card. If you already have a social security card, please compare the SSN and name on your card to the TIN and name on this notice.

For non-individuals (trusts, estates, partnerships and similar entities) the TIN is the Employer Identification Number (EIN) issued by the IRS. The EIN on your account may be incorrect because it does not contain the number of the actual owner of the account.

A sole proprietor must furnish his/her individual name and his/her SSN or EIN for the sole proprietorship. The sole proprietor may also furnish the business name of the sole proprietorship, provided his/her individual name is listed first.

If you have any questions concerning the correct manner to reflect your name please contact the SSA or the IRS.

Part I Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. The TIN provided must match the name given on line 1 to avoid backup withholding. For individuals, this is generally your social security number (SSN). However, for a resident alien, sole proprietor, or disregarded entity, see the instructions for Part I, later. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see How to get a TIN, later.

Note: If the account is in more than one name, see the instructions for line 1. Also see What Name and Number To Give the Requester for guidelines on whose number to enter.

Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

1. The number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me); and
 2. I am not subject to backup withholding because: (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding; and
 3. I am a U.S. citizen or other U.S. person (defined below); and
 4. The FATCA code(s) entered on this form (if any) indicating that I am exempt from FATCA reporting is correct.

For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally, payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the certification, but you must provide your correct TIN.
